

Agile Leadership Development for Managers and Supervisors

Great leaders possess and utilize tools needed to inspire others and become an agent for change or continuous improvement within an organization. These “agile” leaders become a talent magnet, while positively impacting business outcomes in many ways.

Making an investment in developing Mid-Level Leaders is important for organizations to sustain long-term successful levels of performance and results. This can be difficult to do however when it is often this group of leaders that find it most difficult to attend typical “training” classes and apply concepts immediately.

LAK Group offers an experience that is different

It allows for customization, focused learning, and includes accountability conversations.

Virtual one-on-one delivery with micro learning elements creates ultimate flexibility

Compressed time commitment forces concentration on specific subject areas

Personalized approach helps learners turn obstacles into opportunities

Contemporary design addresses development requirements of today's modern learner

Individual coaching fortifies learning, accountability, and on-the-job application

The foundation of our approach is in the Six Attributes of Agile Leaders
